

FROM THE NORTH DOWN TO THE SOUTH

Something I should write down,
tells me where we are now.
But somehow I can't find out
why feelings have turned into doubts...
I would never try
to shatter your heart with goodbyes,
but two lonely people lose their burning fire...

Tell me your side of our story.
Do I see it all wrong?
Spread your light on our story.
Would you like to talk about us?
I've tried to reach your mind
bridges to your thoughts inside,
but do we have faith in finding back our fire?

Running from the north
down to the south of our destiny,
or should we break down our walls?
Looking from the west
down to the east of our memories,
or should we relieve our souls?

Let us consider our story
Or am I the only one who needs some light on our story
who needs to talk about us...
Let me inside your mind
so I can hear the words you hide,
oh do you have faith in finding back our fire?

Running from the north
down to the south of our destiny,
or should we break down our walls?
(should we break down?)
Looking from the west
down to the east of our memories,
or should we relieve our souls?

Running from the north
down to the south of our destiny,
or should we break down our walls?
Looking from the west
down to the east of our memories,
or should we relieve our souls?

Should we break down our walls...
Or should we relieve our souls...
From the north down to the south
Or should we break down our walls...
(should we break down?)
From the north down to the south
Or should we relieve our souls...

Solo..

Are we running from the north
down to the south of our destiny,
or should we break down our walls?
(should we break down?)
Are we looking from the west
down to the east of our memories,
or should we relieve our souls?

Running from the north
down to the south of our destiny,
or should we break down our walls?
(should we break down?)
Are we looking from the west
down to the east of our memories,
or should we relieve our souls?

Running from the north down to the south,
(from the north down to the south)
or should we break down our walls
(should we break down?)
Looking from the west
down to the east of our memories...
(From the north, east, west down to the south)