

RECONCILE

Cold and cloudy skies,
while a thousand stars are rising
But everything we've tried ended up in crying.
And 'though I never wanted it to loose ourselves through insanity instead of love...

Should we hold on,
or should we let it go
and accept that it's gone?
Shouldn't we choose for separate lives
and forget
the many bitter tears we've shed?

*Reconcile...
Reconcile...*

The make up on you face colours the hurt that has led you to the words you'll finally say the barricades in our bedroom.
And 'though you never wanted it
to go this way,
this insanity remains the same...

Should we hold on,
or should we let it go
and accept that it's gone?
Shouldn't we choose for separate lives
and forget
the confusion we've shared for so long?

Carry on,
or should we surrender now,
and accept that it's gone?
Shouldn't we choose for separate lives
and forget
the many bitter tears we have shed?

Reconcile...